Webcams - What can they do?

What is a WEBCAM? A webcam is essentially just a camera that is connected to a computer, either directly or wirelessly, and sends pictures to other computers.

You can use a webcam to send special messages to your family, record an event you would like to share, provide security for your home, chat with anyone in the world in real time, and see different sites in the world through many of the news cameras placed in most major cities.

With almost any generic webcam and some relatively cheap software, you can set up a motion-detecting security camera, a periodically refreshed image of your home interior/exterior, or even a live video feed direct from the excitement of your empty living room. You never know who you might catch in there someday.

Come to the training classes that are scheduled in June and July and learn what a fun feature you have on your computer.
